I am currently a Massage Therapist looking for a start on a new chapter in my career. I recently graduated from San Diego City College with an Associate's in Business Administration. I also took a handful of Computer Science classes in San Diego State University, but decided a coding bootcamp was the right choice for me, as it is more saturated with relevant concepts and technology. With a certificate in Full Stack Web Development from UCSD, I am pursuing an entry level position as a Web Developer and plan to further advance my knowledge in the technologies listed below.
